Harris, Hester, Morris

Lorenzo Harris of Asbury Park, the Rev. John Hester of Atlantic City, and Dr. Andrew V. Morris of Newark are entitled to the heartiest commendation of their fellows for the stand they are making for public office.

Mr. Harris and Dr. Morris are standing for the city council of Asbury Park and Newark, respectively, while the Rev. Hester is a candidate for freeholder from Atlantic City's 3rd Ward.

The chances of election for Harris and Hester appear to be good; Dr. Morris' chances would be better under better management and with more vigorous promotion.

Part of the Democratic Process

In any event, it is good that these citizens are standing for office. After all, standing for public office is not the least important part of the democratic process. And it is certainly time more citizens of color in this state were standing for public office.

Of course, it takes money and energy and time to carry on a political campaign of the most modest kind but this is the price all must pay for significant participation in the affairs of the political community.

Let Their Number Multiply

In after years, we hope that the number of colored citizens standing for public office will be multiplied many times over; and that the same know-how, dispatch and energy these citizens show in other affairs will be seen in getting themselves elected.

Meanwhile, the three men (there may be others unknown to us) mentioned here furnish an example which may be followed with appreciable benefit. What better way is there for citizens of color to share in the determination of public policy than by getting elected to public office?

Brotherly Love By Law?

The Jersey Journal is worried lest the passage of the State Fair Employment Practice law may prove a failure by trying to legislate brotherly love.

The Journal, in an editorial of April 9, says, "It has yet to be proved that you can make a person like another by legislation."

The Journal, notwithstanding, believes in the force and value of "an enlightened growing public opinion."

Value of Public Awareness

Apparently, it never has occurred to the Journal that even a poorly conceived and drawn law, as the New Jersey FEPC surely is, can and does inform public opinion, can and does give the public an awareness of problems, which, otherwise, might not be brought to its attention.

Moreover, the Journal is down to its chronic level of intellectual flabbiness when it mistakes the FEPC law as an attempt to legislate brotherly love. The law, whatever its weakness, is not designed to make people like each other, but to respect the civil status of each other.

Democratic Metes and Bounds

There are metes and bounds within the concept of the free citizen which are forever recognized and respected by the intelligent, among whom we insist on counting the editors of the Jersey Journal, their editorial opinion to the contrary notwithstanding.

These metes and bounds were never intended to embrace brotherly love or even simple affection. But they certainly do embrace respect of persons as the necessary basis for civil decorum and public ethics.

This is all, we suspect, any law can hope to foster and fulfill.

Laws Do Inform Public Opinion

The kind of claptrap editorializing the Jersey Journal indulges in appears to be designed to remark not so much the lack of perfection in the law enacted at Trenton, as to regret the general ends it affects to have in view.

Some one ought to tell the editors of the Journal that laws themselves, however, imperfect, contribute to the enlightenment of public opinion.

Enforcing The FEPC

The seven bills creating and enabling the State Fair Employment Practice law, signed a few days ago by Gov. Edge, are far short of the legislation proponents of the original idea had in mind. They are nevertheless, as has been said, a step in the right direction.

Enforcement of the new State FEPC law is a dubious matter. The State Department of Education and the Commissioner of Education are known to have objected to enforcement being put under the Department of Education.

Law Is Law

With the Department of Education already notorious for its Jim Crow proclivities and practices, this protest on its part against being charged with responsibility for enforcement of the State FEPC certainly is something short of encouraging for the success of the law.

But since law is law, it is to be hoped that the Department will do its duty, whatever the pain and suffering.

With Eagle Eye

We can only wish that the Department, considering its already heavy load of unfulfilled duties to democracy, were not to be placed under the burden of more pain and suffering!

Many another citizen in the State, the Herald News staff, note, with eagle eye, the kind of deputies the Department employs to uphold the law given over to its supervision.

No Gravy-Train

The "gravy-train" boys are surely to be watched. The sincerity of the Department and the Commissioner of

The Negro Worker--Today And Tomorrow

By THYRA EDWARDS

Meet the President

Because of our status as sub-citizens in this great commonwealth, we have reason to "view with alarm" new officials. Certainly the successor to the late, loved President Roosevelt is "in" for such scrutiny.

Last year while campaigning across the country for the election of the Roosevelt-Truman ticket, I found in Kansas City, Missouri that President Harry S. Truman enjoys the confidence and affection of Negroes in that part of the state.

They say as County Judge he appropriated funds for the establishment of a long needed and hard sought school for delinquent Negro girls.

They say that in the grim days of 1930-34 when nationwide policy was "no jobs to Negroes when white men are jobless," Harry Truman, the County Judge, personally saw to it that Negroes got a proportion of all public work jobs.

As County Judge in Missouri he was just and fair to all citizens of the state.

His record in Washington in 1934 Harry Truman went to Washington as Senator from Missouri. That was one year after the late President's first inauguration.

Those were crucial years of New Deal programs, social security legislation, laws favorable to organized labor.

The record shows that Senator Truman gave consistent and substantial support to President Roosevelt's domestic and foreign policy.

He voted for the National Labor Relations Act, American Education act, it seems to us, be measured pretty accurately by the selection of persons whose duty is to enforce the law.

It is a commonplace that even a weak law may gather strength from the nature of its enforcing personnel.

And if those who have, for one reason or another, been lined up on the side of the angels in this matter of a State FEPC, think they can carry on as plain devils through impish deputies, they are sure, will have hard days ahead.

The Summit YWCA

The editors of the Herald News are sincerely sorry for the error made in our editorial of April 7, when we mistakenly charged the YWCA of Summit, New Jersey, with practicing Jim Crow against five colored Summit high school girls in its learn-to-swim program.

It was the Summit Central YMCA (Young Men's Christian Association) and not the YWCA that our editorial should have discussed.

Our error derived from what was apparently a typographical error in the news story, on which we based our comment.

As letters published on this page in our last week's issue indicated, the YWCA, in this section of the country, is solidly committed against segregation of the kind we discussed. For this we are more than happy.

We are deeply grateful to the YWCA for informing us of its progressive policy; and are, of course, likewise, chagrined that we made the error in the first place.

Our chagrin, in no little part, is intensified in view of the fact that what we mistakenly said of the YWCA is yet true of the YMCA.

Indeed, we are more than ever at a loss to understand why the YMCA is guilty of what we mistakenly accused the YWCA, the onerous kind of segregation for reasons of color.

If the YWCA will forgive us this time, we shall do our level best, hereafter, to remind the YMCA that it is later than it thinks, in the matter of Christian stewardship.

Finally, may we say that we, on the Herald News, are deeply thankful for the good intelligence that is now ours because of the enlightened Christian policy and practice of the YWCA, and which, though by error, we can share with many others.

The New President

For the record, we want to say that we should not at all be surprised to find that Harry Truman turns out to be a first-rate President.

His first speech to the Congress, his first press conference and his address to the fighting services and, above all, his general dispatch and decision in urgent matters of state, augur well for a successful tenure in the White House.

We like the man for his forthrightness, his ability to act and make decisions on important matters. And we like him again for his suggested and stated references to Lincoln, evidenced in all his public statements to date.

No one should overlook the man's record as a senator; it's good and in the fine liberal tradition.

Besides, Harry Truman is an American with a fitting sense of history, and with a consciousness of what it is to make history, what with so many skeptical men and women looking on.

With his humble origins and his evident sense of the time of day it is in the life of the world, we should be surprised, indeed, were he to miss fire in this so great a battle for the validity of the moral and political order which has made his ascendancy possible.

We believe, in short, that the man will do well!

labor's Magna Carta, and for social security legislation.

He voted against returning the administration of unemployment relief to the states.

He voted for cost housing, W.P.A., and in 1943 for the continuation of N. Y. A.

We regret that the facts in the incident of which your editorial referred were misrepresented.

The Y.W.C.A. of Summit, which is part of the National and World War II, includes members of all races and nationalities. The Y.W.C.A. of Summit does not have a pool. Occasionally the Y.W.C.A. of Summit includes swimming in its program and uses the Y.M.C.A. pool. Whenever that is done, negro (sic) girls swim with the white girls. In no other basis does the Y.W.C.A. carry on a swim program.

If you would visit the Y.W.C.A. of Summit and talk with any of our members, negro (sic) or white, you would discover that in all questions of policy negro (sic) and white members act together. Negroes are members of the Board of Directors, the governing committee, the Interclub Council, and chair in all the activities of the Association. In our public affairs program, the Association is co-operated with the Interracial Committee of Summit to secure better housing facilities for low income groups, to strengthen Fair Employment Practices; to make it possible for the Negro laborer to attend his patients in the Local Hospital and to remove the policy of segregation in local theatres.

Let us close ranks and give him our loyal support in extending the gains we have made during the past twelve years.

Let's Raise Our Sights

There are continual complaints that government appointments among Negroes to posts in higher classifications have steadily declined since President McKinley's Administration, 1897-1901. In the Howard University Studies in Social Science, an excellent analysis of the Negro federal government worker, showing how Negroes have worked in the federal set-up from 1881 to 1938.

Today we have 3 such offices: Lester Aglar Wallon, Envoy Extraordinary at Liberia, James H. Carter, Foreign Service Officer at Calais, France, and Clifford Reginald Wharton, Consul at Las Palmas, Canary Islands.

Mr. Carter was appointed in 1906, Mr. Wharton in 1924. Mr. Wallon is the only appointee made by the late President Roosevelt.

On the other hand the total number of Negroes employed by the federal government in 1945, a consistent increase from 620,577 percent of total employees in 1881, 22,640, 5.86 percent in 1910, and 82,000, 9.85 percent in 1938. The number has been swollen by war services but the ratio is approximately the same.

Rank and file government employees are organized into the Federal Workers Union-CIO. Tommy Richardson, a brilliant young Negro who came up in the Southern Negro Youth Congress, is executive vice-president.

Unquestionably, we should raise our sights. The ablest young Negroes and women—competent to hold diplomatic posts or high public office have been drained off into race specialization—the pseudo-profession of advising white administrators what to do about Negroes. Currently white "Negro specialists" are edging them out of this "specialty" which should point one toward the fastest ladder to leadership to take their case to the people. Such elected representatives are in the best spot to "interpret" the Negro and the only interpretation to be made is a human one—the same interpretation as applied to white men.

Let's break away from philanthropic stance with the men and women as a profession and take men of America as equals. We are of age. In the words of the late President Roosevelt:

MORE ON Y.W.C.A.

Sir: In the editorial which appeared in your paper of April 14, you accused the Y.W.C.A. of discrimination practices in connection with a "learn-to-swim" program. If you had consulted the Y.W.C.A., you would have found that your statement was both inaccurate and a misrepresentation of the facts. The incident to which you referred in your editorial concerned only the Y.M.C.A. (which is not the Y.W.C.A.) and public schools.

The Y.W.C.A. of Summit, which is part of the National and World War II, includes members of all races and nationalities. The Y.W.C.A. of Summit does not have a pool. CONVERSATION PIECE by MARC MORELAND, Ph.D.

FOR ERNIE FYLE

"Out on Ie Island, a small area near Okinawa, they laid Ernie Fyle to rest, 'the doughboy's reporter,' battle-grav American soldiers standing at attention after ducking mortar shells on their way to the 79th Division cemetery. A short distance ahead of the simple funeral service for Ernie Fyle, the battlefront heard the beat of a sharp machine gun tattoo and the bark of mortars."

TO RENEW THE BATTLE

When the service was concluded, Wagon infantrymen, Ernie's comrades in arms, stood on up to the front to renew the battle. This is the way Ernie Fyle would have wanted it, and this is the way it should have been. The little guy was a true soldier: he had said just before returning to the war that he had to be a soldier to die with his boots on.

YOUR THREE CENTS

His death calls to mind the correspondent depicted by Mr. Henry Hull in the current movie, "Objective Burma," and the comment Mr. Errol Flynn makes on his death after the hard grueling days in the Burma jungles. It was something like this: "So long, Old Fellow, next time I buy a newspaper, I'll know just how much I'm getting for my three cents. This scene alone is worth more than the price of admission to see the picture."

MANY BRAVE MEN

Ernie Fyle is by no means the only newspaper correspondent to die in this war. His death in battle reminds us of the many brave men of the press who have seen and reported this war—reporters and cameramen and analysts, soldiers all, and not the least important soldiers in a democratic war wherein the people have so much at stake.

THE CASE OF THE NEGRO FLYING OFFICERS

The case of the arrested Negro flying officers of the U. S. Army for refusing to sign a regulation which, they contended, barred them from a club improperly reserved for white officers at Freeman Field, Indiana, is one of the most pitiful instances of old-time Americanism.

The men took their stand on the basis of Army Regulation 210-10 governing officers' clubs, messes and similar social organizations, which read, in part:

THE ARMY REGULATION

"No officers' club, mess, or similar social organization of officers will be permitted by the post commander to occupy any part of any public building, other than the private quarters of an officer, unless such club, mess, or other organization extend to all officers on duty at the post the right to full membership. . . ."

The men in question were "officers on duty at the post"; they were denied their rights, and they so contended.

MAJ. HUNTER

The sentiment back of the treatment and arrest of these officers was expressed, before their transfer from Selfridge Field, Mich., by Major General O. P. Hunter, commanding general of the First Air Force, who is quoted as having said:

"The country is not yet ready to accept white and colored officers at the same social level. I base that opinion on the history of this country for the past 125 years. I recognize no racial difficulty at Selfridge Field."

STRAIGHTEN UP AND ELY RIGHT

It is the average citizen's understanding that even major generals are good soldiers—or can be, at any rate—and your average citizen, again, one suspects, is at a loss to understand how even a major general presumes to set a personal opinion over against the announced, considered policy of the military, which is certainly no great shakes at radical innovations.

The Negro flying officers are right; and it is a hell of a time in the life of this country to say they're wrong—no matter how many brass hats are dumped on their heads.

The War Department ought to help the American Eagle straighten up and fly right. Time in the life of man is certainly on the wing; the Eagle is an awfully proud bird to be dragging its tail in the dust!

I am happy that you liked us, she said, "I am sad because this is the last visit we will make to your city. We will not come back... until people like us can sit next to people like you. God bless you! You will need my blessing!"

Now come the Seventh War Loan — May 14 through June 30th — in which 14 billions is again the general goal, but 7 billions of that 14 is being sought from individuals, rather than from banks and other organizations and corporations.

The individual citizen is the man who counts in America. When he saves his money, invests it in the safest investment, and at the best interest for the security, instead of putting it into channels of trade, he develops a habit of saving, and the money he saves is the money that makes the difference between a man who is a man and a man who is a man.

Let's break away from philanthropic stance with the men and women as a profession and take men of America as equals. We are of age. In the words of the late President Roosevelt:

Brady Promises Use Of Negro Drs.

NEWARK—Confusion concerning Commissioner John A. Brady's participation in discrimination against Negro physicians was cleared up in a conference held last Thursday, when Dr. E. W. Sprague, chief of staff at City Hospital, attributed absence of Negroes on the staff to the method of selection in force for twenty years, rather than to any attempt to eliminate Negroes from the eligibility list. He expressed the opinion that if Negro doctors applied the situation may be remedied.

Sprague told the committee representing several citizens groups that the outlook for integration of Negroes on the staff was "quite hopeful." Atty. Solomon Golt, spokesman for the citizens groups, saw an early end to "the aren't discrimination against Negro physicians at City Hospital." Participating in the conference which was called at Commissioner Brady's suggestion were representatives of the medical board and members of the Community Committee on City Hospital Discrimination, Lobby for Community Action, the Voters, the Newark Interracial Council and the Newark Physicians Association.

Although several Negro physicians in the city have applied for membership on the staff in the last ten years, some of them several times, Dr. Sprague insisted he knew of only one application, that of Dr. C. O. Hilton, the most recent.

Meeting with the staff were Director Brady, Atty. Golt, Dr. E. Mae McCarroll, Dr. C. O. Hilton, Morris Budin of the Lobby for Community Action, Arthur J. Edwards of the Montclair Congregational Church and the Newark Interracial Committee.

Most Negro physicians of Newark were expected Monday to concur in a statement that, in the light of facts revealed at Thursday's meeting, Brady had taken a "needless rap" by being blamed for a condition which cannot change save by agreement of the hospital staff. Dr. Harry Comandore revealed that twenty years ago so much criticism of "political appointments" to the staff had arisen that two physicians had to be let out. Since that time, he said, there has been an agreement that the staff select all appointees. The Commissioner then makes the appointment to the staff.

Dr. Clarence O'Crowley of the staff pointed out that method of non-political selection had resulted in building the reputation of City Hospital to a high standard among the nation's hospitals and that doctors thereby work together amicably.

Director Brady has followed this method in the Newark Health Department where the names of all candidates are submitted by Health Officer Dr. Charles V. Craster. Brady makes the appointments from these names. This has resulted in the naming of seven clinic physicians, one dentist, seven nurses, one social service worker, one laboratory technician and several venereal disease investigators and secretaries—a total of 36 Negro workers. Had the City Hospital staff submitted to Brady names of Negro doctors and internes as candidates, Brady could have named them in the same manner he has named women and men to the Health Department.

Over twenty members of the Hospital staff sat in on the conference. Three spoke — Dr. Sprague, Dr. O'Crowley and Dr. Comandore. Director Brady pointed out that no one more than he had urged changing of the Hospital's policy and integration of Negroes and that he had done so frequently and his record is part of the City Commission minutes.

He also cited the unpleasantness which a political appointee would undergo among non-political appointees and said he preferred to follow the rule that the board itself makes the recommendations. Eligibility lists are examined by chiefs of staff when vacancies occur and chiefs of staff can select any name on the lists. Lists are compiled from applications which meet eligibility requirements.

Sprague admitted to Golt that doctors are overworked by the war and there is a shortage of them. He said there was possibly a need for more doctors in some services, but most services are able to carry on even with a curtailed staff.

Mr. Golt cited a drop from 240 doctors on the staff in 1939 to only 150 today as an indication there should be more doctors. He reviewed the ten year history of the fight to integrate Negro doctors, internes and nurses. He said it was a shocking situation when we are fighting to disprove racial superiority. He said by-laws of the hospital should be so changed that personalities could not cause discrimination. Dr. Sprague denied physicians would discriminate against members of their own profession.

Brady has frequently stated that more "political appointments" by him to the staff would not solve the problem and Thursday's meeting verified his statements.

All who attended the conference indicated they felt actual integration of doctors is nearer than at any time in the city's history.

A LITTLE LIGHT ALONG THE ROAD

By WM. HUNTER MAXWELL

FACING THE TRUTH

There come times in our lives when TRUTH, garbed in ugliest garments comes before us. Unpleasant, avowedly distressing and disheartening, but yet TRUTH. And we must face it.

If some disinterested authority concludes that we do not do some, what inclined toward a sour resentment. It may be that we do not toe the line in some particular instance. Why not analyze the splinter of inefficiency or a lack of thoroughness somewhere along the line and accepting the TRUTH of the situation, we can then proceed to more properly qualify ourselves.

But, NO, in common parlance, too many of us get sore when we are not pat on the back for this or that, regardless of whether or not the pat is genuine or on the level. TRUTH harms no one. As this or that, regardless of whether or not the pat is genuine or on the level. TRUTH harms no one. As this or that, regardless of whether or not the pat is genuine or on the level. TRUTH harms no one.

crushed to earth, shall rise again." And it will. It does not do us any wrong any good when we are praised to the blue heavens and the praise is simply a pack of lies. We have got to face the TRUTH and face it pleasantly and profitably, if we expect to get anywhere.

WORDS ARE NOT DEEDS
All the high-sounding lies in creation will never translate us into good agents, good salesmen, good carpenters, good shoemen, good shoemakers, good dentists, good lawyers, good doctors or anything else good, if we are actually and purportedly not good ones. Trying to frown down the TRUTH, trying to sidestep the TRUTH is no sign of wisdom. It is rather a motion of sheer retrogression. "You shall know the TRUTH and the TRUTH shall make you better, should be the meat and bread of coveted success for all."

It seems that we are a bit too touchy, a bit too thin skinned in too many instances when TRUTH faces us. It would be well to adjourn such a cross-eyed attitude. It would be well to abolish it for all time. It would do a lot of good.

'Partial Deafness and Pain in Ear, Often Due to Foreign Bodies'

Foreign bodies such as insects, small objects and an accumulation

tion of wax in the ear may produce an infection with the symptoms of pain and tenderness, or greatly reduced hearing.

Insects are commonly found in the ears of inmates of large institutions who suffer from lack of personal hygiene. But it is not uncommon to find that an ear may be due to the common bed bug that has wandered from the bed pillow into the external opening of the ear. During the spring and summer seasons, a walk in the country, or a nap under the garden trees may expose you as a target for all airborne insects. Several times I have removed a Japanese beetle from the ear of a fruit tree shaker.

Children are the chief sufferers from deliberately inserted hard foreign objects, such as a bead, or pea; but adults often accidentally are victims. While cerumen, (wax) is a normal secretion of the glands in the ear, individuals whose skin excretes excessive amounts. If the wax becomes tightly packed into the canal, it may reduce hearing so that partial deafness on the affected side is the first symptom.

The closer the foreign body may lie to the tympanic membrane, the greater the discomfort. Usually, the symptoms are mild until unskilled attempts are made to remove them. Examination and removal under proper conditions by a competent physician is the only treatment.

Appointed John Dabney and later William Hopkins as members of the Newark Defense Council.

Appointed Dr. James Lee to the Central Planning Board.

There is no employee discrimination in his department and he has consistently favored enactment of a Fair Employment Practice Act. Remember that the Mayor set up a fair employment practice committee in Newark three years ago.

He is pledged to post-war employment and more low-cost good housing. A veteran himself, he is pledged to protection of Veterans' rights. HENCE, DO NOT FORGET HIM ON MAY 8th.

The TRANSPORTS OF WAR
Require Thousands of Lights
Every ship—every plane—every tank must have means of illumination. Some of these lights are of gigantic size and some are as diminutive as the tip of a finger. Gas is used to mold the glass. The uniformity of gas heat gives uniform results. Since the slightest irregularity is cause for rejection, and rejections slow production, gas is given preference in war plants making this equipment. Gas has made an outstanding contribution to New Jersey's fine record for war production work.

MISS CORA GREENE

Miss Cora Greene, popular and well known entertainer just returned from overseas where she entertained soldiers stationed in war areas. Miss Greene's trip took her to most of the army camps throughout Africa, visiting Casa Blanca, Liberia, Palestine and many others. This comedian's third overseas trip under the USO, and at present she is resting up at the home of her niece in Newark, N. J., pursuant to a return trip in the near future.

In interviewing Miss Greene, it was intriguing to listen to the vivacious entertainer describe the beauties of Palestine, the utter waste and desolation of other once famed African cities, and the stupendous job of rehabilitation ahead of the Allies at the close of the war. She also told some very amusing and interesting anecdotes in connection with her trip, and was enthusiastic in her praise of the USO management and its policy of courtesy to all entertainers, regardless of race, creed or color.

Miss Greene deplored conditions making it necessary for soldiers to remain so long away from their native lands. She stated she had talked with British soldiers who had been away from home for a period of seven years, and had reached the point of indifference as to returning to their homeland. She expressed the hope that the women of the United States would as far as possible refrain from inflicting their disappointments and heartaches through letters on their boys, and said Miss Greene "If they grow weary of waiting for the boy's return, refrain from letting him know it." "This," said Miss Greene, "is one of the greatest morale destroyers encountered in her contacts with overseas men."

FEPC Scored By Texas Democrat

WASHINGTON — Legislation to establish a permanent Fair Employment Practices Commission was described in the House as "a most dangerous proposal, with provisions in it which will amaze and astound Congress and the country."

Representative O. C. Fisher, Democrat, of Texas, told his colleagues the legislation "would set up a commission with such tremendous power its rulings would not be subject to court review."

Count Basie Makes New Disc

NEW YORK—Count Basie, the "Jump King of Swing," has created another sensation in musical circles with his latest Columbia recording of "That Old Feeling" and "This Heart of Mine," on which the Count used an added string section comprising 12 men.

Columbia Recording Corporation officials have pointed out that few discs ever have enjoyed such a tremendous initial sale as the new Basie release, which also stars the vocal work of radio songstress Lynne Sherran, who in private life is the wife of Milton Ebbins, Basie's personal manager.

As a result of this reaction, the Columbia firm will have Basie wax at least two more sides next month with the strings.

Basie has again shown the way to his fellow bandleaders in starring new musical trends by becoming the first septa maestro ever to record with a full string section.

The band is that of Billy Eckstine, the handsome young singing star, who will appear at the Apollo the week of May 18 in his third engagement here.

Meister Eckstine made his debut as a bandleader at the Apollo last summer, and was promptly booked for a second engagement last December in which he came close to equalling the all-time house attendance record which is held by Count Basie.

Eagles Show Class In Training Camp

NEWARK — Terris McDuffie displayed a fit of temperament this week end by boiling the Newark Eagles camp in Richmond and showing up in Harlem, his only comfort was "I need a rest more than I need practice."

McDuffie left camp even though he is contracted at top salary with the Eagles for this season. He said the recent trout he got with the Brooklyn Dodgers had not "turned his head." He was simply taking time off to relax.

McDuffie's action may or may not affect the Eagles opener at Ruppert Stadium here Sunday at 6 p.m. with the New York Cubans. McDuffie is listed as one of the opening pitchers and his picture is on placards advertising the game, but his sudden rebellion may shift matters around.

Manager Willie Wells over the phone from Richmond spoke enthusiastically about the team but made no comment on McDuffie's action. Wells is raving about a new second baseman, Lloyd Banks, who is coming to a training camp.

Banks is showing such "fine camp form" that he is not regretting the defection from the Eagles this season of Ray Dandridge who with Lempie Hooker, Johnny Davis and Murray Watkins all old timers with the Eagles are rounding into shape for the season, Wells reports.

BEGIN CAMPAIGN FOR BOY'S CLUB

NEWARK — The campaign to raise $24,000 to carry on the work of the Boy's Club of Newark for 1945-46 will get underway Tuesday night. It will continue until May 8.

The club operates two clubhouses, one at 42 Madison street and the other at 14 High street, for boys of all races, creeds and colors. In both, the true spirit of Democracy is practiced.

Alexander G. Levi, vice president of L. Bamberger & Co. and Herbert F. Hoer are co-chairmen of the campaign.

"If the clubs are to continue to provide recreational, vocational and educational facilities as well as the proper leadership for the large group of our less fortunate boys, the money must be forthcoming," the chairman said.

They pointed out that each year large groups of boys, both colored and white are given the opportunity to spend at least two weeks in camps where they are restored in health and built up physically.

J. Robert Dorer, president of the club, said he wished that every citizen in Newark could visit the clubs and see the work that is being done. He pointed with pride to the championship, all-colored basketball team developed at the Morton street club. He also pointed with pride to the many articles, including toys and furniture that are turned out by the boys in the vocational classes.

Seventy-eight members and in both clubs former members of the two clubs are in the Armed Services and have made outstanding soldiers.

Virtually all of them have become non-commissioned officers.

"If we are to continue the work of the clubs," Dorer said, "we must have financial help from everyone. No contribution will be too small. It takes but $10 to send a boy to camp for two weeks in the summer."

For Those Who Serve

By GLADYS P. GRAHAM

NEW YORK — Greeting New Jerseyans, it's the introductory column of "For Those Who Serve," dedicated to the men and women of America elsewhere fighting the cause of freedom. This column will appear for your reading pleasure from week to week and will contain items of interest for those in the armed forces and those behind the men behind the guns, who may put the word on go to what's doing up Harlem way in New York City at the Salvation Army Servicemen's Club, 224 West 124th street where things are jumping. The facilities, services and free entertainment are open to all races, creeds and colors regardless of national origin.

This Week's Guests

This week the Three Peters Sisters, Dorothy Kashino, Colonel Hubert F. Julian, Eva Jessey, Joan Lee and Professor Achmed Williams were guests at the "Celebrity Breakfast." Here the boys in service chat informally with the civilian guests about things happening here and you and see in the flesh people that they had heard and read about but never seen.

Lovely Hilda Simms, star of "Anna Lucasta," was presented a beautiful bouquet of flowers and a plaque for being the outstanding Negro Actress of the year. Present were many outstanding individuals in the theatrical field.

In The Game Room

The Colonel Charles Young Pal Center of 153rd street of which Lillian Stockton is director engaged the servicemen in a competitive game of ing-ping at the Center's huge game room this week. The team consisting of Marion Blair, Peggy Bowen, Emily Hamilton, Doris Mulligan, Marjorie Sneed and Pauline Walker are known as the Ping-pong Sextet. This girl played a terrific game and kept the G.I.'s on their toes until Donald Simms, referee called a halt.

Cubans Open With Elites In N. Y. Sun.

One of baseball's largest turnouts is anticipated at the Polo Grounds, New York City, this Sunday, April 29th, to welcome home the New York Cubans when they clash with the Baltimore Elite Giants in a Doubleheader with the first game starting at 2 p.m.

Returning after one of their most successful training trips in years, in which they compiled the remarkable record of winning 16 of 18 games played, the Cubans already have been acclaimed throughout the Southland as one of the most powerful teams to appear there in years and a definite contender for baseball's highest honors. That this is much more than just wishful thinking can be readily seen when the Latin, formidable lineup is carefully examined.

Notwithstanding the fact that the Cubans can field such awe-inspiring lineup the Baltimore Elite Giants still cannot be so easily overlooked, for Vernon Green and "Felt" Snow, the masterminds behind the Monumental City pets, have labored long and late to make a Championship contender of their outfit, so that they might again feast on the titular honors that they have not tasted since 1899.
